

Field Street Grade 2 News

November 2015

2nd graders have an exciting month ahead of them.

They began November with a field trip to the Salem County Community College to watch a play composed of 4 multicultural folktales. The first Literacy Circle for the '15-16 school year was a huge success with 14 families attending to support their child's development in reading. During the event, parents/ guardians and students worked together on comparing and contrasting; cause and effect relationships; and summarizing nonfiction literature. On November 24th, 2nd grade will hold the first Spelling Bee for the school year, showcasing the students' knowledge of spelling patterns learned this marking period. As the month unfolds, students will learn about the elements of nonfiction literature and place value. We would like to encourage parents to read with their child every night and engage their young learners in book discussions.

Remember to complete the Weekly Reading Log, responding to one book that they have read, and have a parent/ guardian signature.

We hope to see many of our parents at Parent-Teacher conferences this month!
